DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. This action is in response to the amendment filed 04/12/2005. Claims 1-3, 10, 12, 16-18, 23, 25, 27, 29, 33, 35 and 37 have been amended; claims 4-7, 9, 11, 13-15, 19-22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36 and 38 have been cancelled. The specification and abstract have also been amended.

Response to Arguments

2. Applicant's arguments, see page 11, 3rd paragraph – page 12, 2nd paragraph, filed 04/12/2005, with respect to the rejection of claims 1 and 16 under 35 USC 102(b) have been fully considered and are persuasive. The rejections of claims 1 and 16 have been withdrawn.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 1-3, 8, 10, 12, 16-18, 23, 25, 27, 29, 31, 33, 35 and 37 are allowed.

4. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance. The present invention is directed to a method and system for protecting an information processing device with a startup password; the startup password is established by a user/operator using detachable input means such as a keyboard. More specifically, independent claims 1 and 16 identify the uniquely distinct feature: the information processing device enters the starting mode regardless of whether a startup password is stored in the device if the input means is not connected to the device. The closest prior art, Goodman et al. (5,402,492), disclose that access to a computer is protected by either a startup password entered via a keyboard or a hardware key. The Goodman computer enters the starting mode without requiring a user to enter the startup password on the keyboard if the correct hardware key is detected. However, Goodman does not teach allowing the computer to startup if the keyboard is not connected to the computer. The prior art, taken either singly or in combination, fails to anticipate or fairly suggest the limitations of applicant's independent claim, in such a manner that a rejection under 35 U.S.C 102 or 103 would be proper. The claimed invention is therefore considered to be in condition for allowance as being novel and nonobvious over prior art.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
